Die-back Makes a Rose Tree Short-lived.

Our stock this season is confined to those varieties which are both popular and quite free of die-back.

Care at Digging Time Means Success

TO THE NURSERYMAN

We are installing for this season new methods and equipment for digging and delivering our stock. We want you to receive your stock in the best possible condition.

YOUR ORDER

Will be carefully selected from our block of over 15,000 trees.

CARE UPON RECEIVING

Your stock is most important. Bare root trees should be kept in wet shavings under lath until white hair roots start to appear, then canned immediately in a shaded place. This is the approved method.
